

The transition to remote learning has been challenging enough, but how will your students maintain their progress over the summer?

Print workbooks provide a cost-effective solution to the biggest hurdles they'll face:

- There's no screen required.
- There's no internet connection required.
- Families can easily participate.
- Students can minimize the summer slide in an active way, engaging more of their senses.

- Workbooks are available now, across a wide range of subjects and grade levels.
